GeoDATA 2009

Sharing Spatial Data

GeoDATA is a widely respected, educational seminar series. It brings together business professionals and industry leaders to explore the many issues facing users of geographic information.

The theme of this year's programme is data sharing, including technology advances, collecting data, accessing information and spatial communication.

With resources stretched more than ever, now is the time to attend GeoDATA. Hear from enthusiastic industry speakers on how geographic information can provide you with a more competitive edge and drive business innovation.

GeoDATA is FREE to attend, so whether you are new to geographic information or looking for smart ways to develop your project, register online at www.training4gis.com or complete the faxback form overleaf today.
